

COMRADES CELEBRATE

MR. AND MRS. SPAFFORD SPECIAL GUESTS OF POST AND CORPS

The all day meeting of N. P. Banks Post and Corps on Friday was notable not only because of the special program arranged to celebrate Washington's Birthday, but because it was the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Comrade and Mrs. Spafford, and occasions of this sort are never allowed to pass unremembered by the Post and Corps.

The usual splendid dinner was served at noon but on account of bad weather the attendance was not quite as large as usual.

"Oh, You'll Not Forget Me Mother if I'm Numbered with the Slain," was the opening number of the program sung so delightfully by the Post Quartette that they were encircled and responded with "Rally Round the Flag, Boys."

Mrs. Moore sang "Keep the Home Fires Burning," Mrs. Winona Crawford providing the accompaniment.

Mr. and Mrs. Spafford as special guests of the day were escorted to the platform and presented with a beautiful cut glass dish, the wedding gift of Post and Corps. Commander Clark made the speech of the day, and as usual was eloquent and apropos. Mr. Spafford responded for himself and Mrs. Spafford to the congratulations of their friends, and Mrs. Priscilla Houdyshel read an original poem celebrating the occasion. Following the program a handsome wedding cake was cut and served and Mr. and Mrs. Spafford received the personal congratulations of those present. With them in the receiving line were old schoolmates who have recently come to California and who will celebrate their own golden wedding in March.

A HAPPY REUNION

Lieut. Henry Webb, who has been at the School of Military Aeronautics at Berkeley passed through Los Angeles February 21st but had barely time to call up Thornycroft Hospital and give a greeting to his wife whom he has not seen since their babe was born. He is now at Camp Kearny and has been granted leave for the week-end. He will arrive in Los Angeles today at 6 p. m. and come at once to Thornycroft to bring his wife and child to the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry, 614 Brand boulevard. It has been a strenuous period for both of these young people as both were anxious about the rigid examinations which Mr. Webb had to undergo but through which he passed successfully, receiving his commission. Mrs. Webb and babe are doing well and it will be a happy reunion.

REAL PATRIOTISM

INTERESTING PAPER READ BEFORE LITERARY SECTION OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

By request of the Literary Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club this paper, by Mrs. Edgar W. Pack, 430 S. Adams street, read before this section on Tuesday afternoon is published:

Patriotism and Patriotic Men

The life of a nation is much like the life of an individual. It begins with an infancy of weakness, a reliance upon others, a seeking for guidance in the experience of those who are older, in the conservation of all forces available. Extension of territory, and accumulation of wealth follow, with increasing time for the arts and luxuries, which opportunity brings and then come the serene stages where full growth is achieved, and when the passions of youth have faded into the dignified serenity of established position.

This nation which we call the United States has seen the time of infancy. It passed impetuous boyhood in 1812, it proved adventurous in 1849, it came to quick blows in its full maturity and revelled in the exuberance of unmeasured strength from 1861 to 1865. Then came the time of judgment, of serene self-valuation, then opportunity was seized. All the resources that lay in the land—that lurked in the air—that thrilled in the brains and hearts of men—were developed, until the nation, in wealth, in power, in magnificence stood at the very apex of existence.

Who were responsible for this transition—gradual and sure? Men, moved by and guided by reflective processes, trained patriots, for patriotism is something that no pledge, no theory, no poetry, no philosophy of life, no culture, can ever conquer, it has moral character directed towards worthy ends.

The pages of history are aflame with the names of true patriots, those who measure up to the highest standards and how shall I select a few from the many who gave their varied talent for country, professional lives, social reformers, political men, military men, writers of all ages, artificers and so on. Their names are legion.

At Pope Creek, Virginia, 1732, was born one destined to become one of the men who live forever in the hearts of his fellow countrymen—George Washington, whose birthday we celebrate. He rose rapidly from messenger boy to Commander-in-Chief of the Colonial Forces—chosen as first president under the Constitution and served two terms. His inaugural address delivered in New York City, 1789, April 30th, is one of the achievements of history. He began by fervent supplication to that Almighty Being who presides over all nations and he stated that no people can be bound to acknowledge and adore the Invincible hand which conducts the affairs of men more than the people of the United States. That the very foundations of our national policy will be laid in the pure, immutable principles of private morality, and the pre-eminence of a free government be exemplified by all attributes which can win the affections of its citizens and command the respect of the world.

May we have enlarged views, temperate consultations, wise measures, on which depend the success of this government.

In his farewell address 1796 he says that religion and morality are indispensable supports to political prosperity and no man can claim the tribute of patriotism who labors to subvert these great pillars of human happiness, those firm props of the duties of men and citizens. He pleads (Continued on Page 4)

SECOND DRAFT CALL IN JUNE

STEADY STREAM OF MEN FROM CIVIL LIFE TO CAMPS AND FROM FRANCE TO CAMPS PLANNED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, February 23.—The second big draft of men for the National army will be made in June, according to present plans, it was authoritatively learned at the office of the Provost Marshal General today.

The number included in the call and the mobilization plans will be determined by the war council of the war department. Unless some great emergency arises no nation-wide call will be made.

Present plans provide for a steady stream of men being moved from civil life to the camps and from the camps to France. Comparatively small numbers of men will be ordered from certain districts to the camps just as rapidly as the men now in the camps are started across the sea.

A formal call authorizing some definite number will be made for the purpose of allotting the district quotas. Many more will be called for special and industrial work under the second draft.

Commencing today 75,000 of the first draft will begin moving to the training camps and the mobilization will continue for five days. On March 3, 10,000 more will be sent. This will leave only 6 per cent—40,000 men—of the first draft not yet inducted into the service.

ELKS' CLUB BALL

SIX HUNDRED MAKE MERRY AT BRILLIANT FUNCTION IN NEW CLUB HOUSE

The Elks had the surprise of their young lives Friday night. They had not yet gotten over the cautious behavior that humble beginnings beget, nor yet learned to adjust themselves to the big scale of the New Club House, and so they were surprised. They took into account the weather and the counter attractions of Washington's Birthday, but did not measure up the allurements of a really truly beautiful new ball room. From these premises they planned for the entertainment of about three hundred guests and about six hundred came.

Dressing rooms were thronged, corridors and parlors were thronged and when the musicians appeared the lodge hall, where it had been decided to have the dancing, speedily filled up.

There was informal dancing for perhaps half an hour and then the grand march was called. When it became apparent that it would reach twice around the room and when the supply of programs ran low, the managers knew that something would have to be done and so sent for another orchestra and arranged to open the down stairs ball room.

The hall was a beautiful scene with the flashing rainbow colors of party gowns on pretty ladies, thrown into relief by the more sombre garb of the male dancers in full dress suits for the most part, though there was no uniformity. Some men wore white, some Tuxedos and there were a good many soldier uniforms.

All the afternoon the entertainment committee had been at work on the decorations and the result did credit to their taste. Suspended fern baskets made a lovely overhead effect, reinforced by potted palms and ferns below. Great handsome white carnations bowered in asparagus plumosa and an exceptionally beautiful plant of white cyclamen completed the floral embellishment.

The committee, which consisted of Jack Hearnshaw, J. W. Brown, B. F. Bourne, Dr. J. L. Flint, E. D. Walbach, E. F. Berry, Art Dibbern and Gus Pulliam, was responsible for all the details of the big affair which meant engaging Stone's very excellent Glendale orchestra, arranging for gallons and gallons of punch, (the only refreshment served), and for the programs which were very neat affairs bearing the inscription, "Glendale B. P. O. E. 1289," an Elk's head and the legend, "Washington's Birthday, February twenty-two, nineteen eighteen." Heading the dance list on the inside were a red, white and blue flag and a picture of Washington.

DINNER AND THEATRE

Misses Lena Mae and Leone Brice of 142 South Kenwood, entertained a few friends with a dinner and theatre party Friday evening of the 22nd. In honor of the day the national colors were used for decorations. The table was beautifully and artistically arranged. Upon a hand-worked center piece was a basket of red carnations. On the ribbon covered handle of the basket stood a Kewpie bearing a little silk American flag. From the flower filled basket streamers of red, white and blue ribbon extended to the place cards which were little red hatchets. The favors were little boxes, representing the stumps of cherry trees, which were filled with bon-bons.

A four course dinner was served and afterwards the party enjoyed the remainder of the evening at the Palace Grand Theatre.

Those present were the Misses Marion Addison, Waunita Emery, Mr. Paul Richardson, Harold Cox, Eugene Imler of Throop College, Pasadena and James Rogers of Los Angeles, and the hostesses.

HOUSE NUMBERING SYSTEM

Attention is called to a conspicuous advertisement on another page of this paper of a public hearing to discuss alternative plans for a house numbering system in Glendale which will be held by the Board of Trustees Thursday evening, February 28th, in the Council Room of the City Hall.

This is a matter of great local importance. Most citizens have ideas upon the subject. Several plans have been suggested and the meeting has been called to consider those plans and to afford a hearing to any one who has any other plan to suggest. A free and frank discussion is desired and the trustees hope that every voter in Glendale will come out.

A PATRIOTIC MOTHER

MRS. CARRIE WATLING HAS THREE SONS IN THE COUNTRY'S SERVICE

Mrs. Carrie Watling of 520 West Eighth street received five letters yesterday from her son Robert, who is with the Second Balloon Squadron somewhere in France. On Christmas day his ship anchored in European waters, and for a Christmas dinner he had a cornbeef sandwich. He was a month on the way, and wore a life preserver day and night. There were some stops, however, and he was able to spend two days in England. When he wrote last he was in camp awaiting his equipment. The work of the balloon squadron, he says, is entirely new and extremely secret, so he could give no details. It seemed strange to him in France to see the women occupying the positions of men, even to driving trucks. There was scarcely a man who was not in uniform, and all the soldiers were wearing wooden shoes. Every kind of soldier was there, and he found it a very inspiring sight. Of his own circumstances he could only say that he was splendidly treated and could not ask for more.

Sergeant Forest E. Watling is still in Texas in the Mechanical Repair Shops of the Quartermaster's Department at Fort Bliss.

John Watling, who is in Washington State, has taken the physical examination. He wishes to go, and expects to be taken into the service any day. Mrs. Watling is a patriotic mother, and says she is glad to have sons so ready to serve their country and would not have them do other than what they are doing.

MUSIC SECTION PATRIOTISM

A delightful program marked the meeting of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club which was held at the home of Mrs. L. N. Hagood, 1454 Salem street. Its programs are always good but this was patriotic and of special interest and excellence.

The opening number, "Battle Cry of Freedom" was given with spirit by the double trio of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

Of the three excellent papers on folk songs, the one on French songs was read and illustrated upon the piano by Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman. Mrs. A. A. Barton gave the paper on Scotch and Irish songs, illustrated by Victrola, and Mrs. Brant the one on English songs illustrated by Mrs. Frank Arnold.

Mrs. Charles Turck gave a most interesting history of the American Flag in her own best style. Mrs. L. N. Hagood played an original arrangement of State songs, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland, etc., and Mrs. Crampton recited an original poem on Washington which ended with: "He gave us 'My Country 'Tis of Thee,'" the section joining in the song, which ended the program.

Tea was served by the hostess and a social half hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Beulah Palette Barnes of Los Angeles, was a guest of the Section.

FARM MEETING

The Burbank-Glendale Farm Bureau Center will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Burbank High School.

Professor Coite, president of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau will talk on fertilizers and fertilization of soils. There will also be a good program of patriotic music by students of the high school and local talent. General discussion will follow Professor Coite's address.

All Glendale citizens who are patriotically interested in increasing food production and who are horticulturists in a large or small way, are urged to attend this meeting and co-operate with the enthusiastic Burbank people who are pushing this important propaganda.

L. B. Doan of Burbank, chairman of the local center, will preside and he is asking all officers and directors to come at 7 o'clock for a business session prior to the program. The officers besides Mr. Doan are: Vice-Presidents H. B. Coker, S. W. Shaull, Alexander Mitchell, and Secretary-Treasurer, Marie A. Larkey.

BELLANS COME TO GLENDALE

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Bellan late of Portland, Oregon, are newcomers to Glendale. They have purchased a $5000 property at 145 E. Second St. and are preparing to improve the house and grounds. Mr. and Mrs. Bellan lived in Los Angeles some years ago and have come back to Southern California after trying life in other parts. They were so pleased with the home they purchased that Mr. Bellan paid cash for it on the spot.

THE WAR FINANCE CORPORATION

The bill recently introduced in Congress for the creation of the "War Finance Corporation" with a capital stock of five hundred million dollars, all of which is to be subscribed by the United States, should be regarded, says Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, primarily as a measure to enable the banks, both national and State banks and trust companies, to continue to furnish essential credits for industries and enterprises necessary or contributory to the prosecution of the war.

The Government has made and is making through the Liberty Loans such large demands upon the lendable capital of the country that the banks often have been prevented from giving needed help to private enterprises, some of which are performing vital service in connection with the war.

The War Finance Corporation is designed as a war measure to give relief from this condition during the period of the war and Secretary McAdoo asserts that the mere existence of the corporation would of itself do so much to maintain confidence that its actual aid would be necessary only in relatively few cases.

This is no hastily conceived legislation. Secretary McAdoo has taken the most expert advice available and the methods adopted in the other countries at war have been thoroughly studied. The proposed law embodies the basic principles of similar laws which have been tried in Europe. Its purpose is to attain the most efficient use of our country's tremendous financial resources for the Government and for private enterprises, which are all necessary to the welfare of the country and our success in this war.

CHECKING UP ERRORS

No American at all acquainted with what has happened in our previous wars has any ground for pessimism in the disclosures that are being made by the senate military affairs committee and other congressional boards of inquiry.

Thus far nothing has been brought to light that could not have been predicted by anyone conversant with our political system and the way things are run at Washington, while much has been discovered to discount and discredit pessimism.

Such errors as have been committed—and there are plenty of them—seem to have been in nearly every case errors of system or incompetence which will be corrected wherever found. There are no such scandals as distressed the patriotic citizens during the Civil war and the Spanish-American affair.

Here and there occur instances of graft or attempted graft, but they are sporadic, and are so utterly at variance with the spirit that actuates every department of the national life that they stand out conspicuous as gibbets on a skyline, and defeat themselves instantly.

Even political capital holds aloof in the making, as it should; and there is throughout the country a growing demand that will shortly manifest itself in no uncertain way, that partisanship is suspended for the war, and will not be tolerated in high places or low. The nation needs the service of every citizen, and no citizen should be debarred from rendering that service for which he is best fitted by the circumstances of party affiliation.—Riverside Press.

BRITISH MULTI-MILLIONAIRES

The Manchester Guardian, of England, generally regarded the foremost provincial newspaper in the empire, lets in some light on the subject of the concentration of wealth in England as compared with the United States, as follows:

"In this country we have come to regard the multi-millionaire as essentially an American institution, and we have not been wanting encouragement from various directions in cultivating this delusion—for delusion it is, and no less. Americans themselves have not hesitated to spread the myth among us. But from a comparison of the 1916 income tax returns for the United Kingdom and the United States (and assuming the 'almighty dollar' as the basis of estimation in both cases) we are forced to the belief that if we would seek modern Croesuses in large quantities we need but look around us at home—in our very midst, indeed. For where the United States can produce only ten multi-millionaires with 125 million dollars each to their credit, we can boast of seventy-nine! And where America has merely nine waxing well on $100,000,000, Great Britain has sixty-eight; while in the $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 region we win again with forty-five to fourteen. On the more poverty-stricken scale of the $50,000,000 and just under, our lead is not so comfortable; nevertheless the old country comes in first by a clear nineteen. After this penurious zone is reached we are quite willing to fall out of the running, and America has ninety-seven individuals to our eighty-three, with competencies of between $25,000,000 and $37,000,000."

A SPLENDID TRIBUTE

An old man of ninety-six, fragile in frame, but with a mind crystal clear in its perceptions, says the Christian Herald, recently thrilled all England with a letter which he wrote to the London Times. The title he chose for his subject was a singular one: "The Return of the Mayflower." In the first few sentences, the idea he had in mind burst upon the readers like a splendid sunrise. The Mayflower, carrying ninety-eight courageous souls, sailed out upon a trackless sea—"for conscience' sake." It came back, a mighty argosy, ready to take up the great world struggle alongside of the allies—also "for conscience' sake." In both cases—the going and the coming—there was the same high motive, the love of liberty, justice, democracy.

The old bishop of Marlborough, when he welcomed the coming of the fleet "of the mightiest republic the world has ever seen," as "The Return of the Mayflower," expressed a thought at once so lofty and noble that it deserves to be imperishable. It should serve as an inspiration to all who would follow the highest ideals, for it is by devotion to the true ideal that the world must make progress.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING To Discuss Alternative Plans For House Numbering System

The Board of Trustees will hold a public hearing Thursday, February 28th, at eight o'clock p. m. in the Council Room of the City Hall, to discuss plans for house numbering systems.

All citizens are urged to give consideration to the alternative plans set forth herewith and to attend said hearing and give expression to their ideas and preferences thereon.

GENERAL PLAN

Number east and west and north and south from the intersection of Brand Boulevard and Broadway.

NOTE—This plan would give all sections of the City relatively the same size numbers in proportion to distance from central point—would necessitate the changing of the names of First, Second, Third, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Streets, as these numbers as now located would be out of harmony with this plan.

PROPOSITION NO. 2

Same as Proposition No. 1, except the intersection of First Street and Brand Boulevard be chosen for central point.

NOTE—If this plan is adopted, it would not become necessary to change the names of First, Second, Third, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth Streets, as in case of Propositions, Nos. 1, 3 and 4.

PROPOSITION NO. 3

Same as Proposition No. 1, except that other location be chosen for central point.

PROPOSITION NO. 4

Number north from south city limits and east from west city limits.

NOTE—This plan would obviate the possibility of duplication of numbers on the same street. There would be no east or west numbers, all numbers running consecutively from one city boundary to the other. This plan would give the north and east sections of the city about twice as large numbers as the same sections would have if either Propositions Nos. 1, 2 or 3, were adopted.

The above are some house-numbering plans suggested to date. Should other plans be presented, same would be given consideration.

Numbering by Blocks or Consecutive Measurement

Independent of general plan for house numbering, arises the question as to whether numbering should be by blocks or by consecutive measurement from base. This question may be studied under the following propositions:

PROPOSITION "A"

Follow the present plan of one hundred numbers to each average block, using as many numbers up to one hundred as may be necessary according to length of block.

PROPOSITION "B"

One number for every certain number of feet measured from base, regardless of blocks.

Shall There Be Two or Four Numbers to Each Fifty Foot Lot?

A question has been raised as to the number of house numbers there should be to each fifty-foot lot. At present there are two. This in some instances makes it necessary to have one-half numbers for business places where store rooms are small. Some of the business men have suggested four numbers to each fifty-foot lot, thereby obviating to a great extent this difficulty.

In considering this question it should be borne in mind that the greater the number of house numbers to each fifty-foot lot, the larger will be the numbers in the outlying residence districts. Preference on this question might be expressed as follows:

PROPOSITION "C"

There should be two house numbers to each fifty-foot lot.

PROPOSITION "D"

There should be four house numbers to each fifty-foot lot.

Bring this to the meeting next Thursday evening and be prepared to vote your preference.

1st—As to the general plan of house numbering.

2nd—As to whether numbering should be by blocks or by measurement from base.

3rd—As to whether there should be two or four house numbers to each fifty-foot lot.

Personals

Miss Ruth Ziegler of 1545 Ruth street is spending the week end in San Diego, and will take in the great review of the troops at Camp Kearny.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shremp and their daughter Esther, were guests at a six o'clock course dinner given Friday evening by Mrs. Ireland of Milford street.

Friends of Gilbert Wright report that when last heard from he was in Bermuda waters greatly enjoying the climate, and tropical conditions. He had been advanced to Third Rating and transferred to Steamship Concord, manned by a crew of 45 picked men.

When last heard from, Neil Wells was still down in Texas guarding the border, and with the troops stationed there was marking time until different orders came. The outbreak of Villa may give him some new experiences.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Harper, of York, Nebraska, made Mrs. F. W.
 Kille, of 815 S. Louise street, a very pleasant call Friday. Mrs. Harper, formerly Miss Read, and Mrs. Kille were neighbors in Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Harper are spending their honeymoon in Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Parker of 227 South Central avenue attended Friday evening the monthly ball and card party of the Sunshine Society at the Kramer Studio, 1500 South Figueroa street, and had as their guest Miss Anna Koomotz of Venice, who is spending the week-end with them.

Little Merna and Merle Kahler of this city, who are on Pantages Coast Circuit, are having a triumphal tour and making a great hit. This week they are in Calgary from whence they will come South, crossing the national boundary next week, and taking in all the leading cities, reaching here about May 6th.

Miss Louise Serriff of 1446 Hawthorne street, celebrated her birthday last week with a little informal musical and knitting party attended by Ruth Wilson, Fay Morris, Dorothy Martin and her sister Louise Serriff. Harry Wilson, who surprised his sister by coming down from Corona unexpectedly, was also a guest.

Our townswoman, Dr. Jessie Russell, will be a speaker at the regular meeting of the Woman's City Club.
 Monday, February 25th in Ham-burger's Auditorium at Eighth and Broadway, Los Angeles, following the 12 o'clock luncheon. Her theme will be: "The Courts and Women." Sidney M. Reeve, Judge of the Juvenile Court, is also on the program and will speak of the practical workings of the court over which he presides.

Mrs. T. S. Freeman, 1517 Sycamore avenue, reports that letters from her son, Sergt. Hugh Freeman, now with the American Expeditionary Force in France, are neither very frequent nor very long, nor is he able to tell very much on account of strict censorship, but, she says: "You don't know how good it makes us feel to get ever so short a message from him." After an interval of about three weeks, she received two letters last Friday. He wrote that the sun was shining after a spell of rainy weather and that it was very welcome, also that he had been changed to even better quarters than he had before, and previous to that time he had been very comfortably situated, with good boots, good overcoat and good shoes, and every equipment to keep him warm and dry in all kinds of weather. He is making a postal card collection which he hopes he will be permitted to send home in the near future.

AT RED CROSS SHOP

The Glendale Red Cross Shop at this writing is full of tantalizing scents of the delicious things which are being served to diners who are patronizing the Saturday lunch provided by Mrs. Jack Boettner and her corps of assistants. She and the assistants are very busy filling the orders of their "paying guests" and the guests have the happy, satisfied look of the well fed. When the reporter called it looked as though the menu would soon be gone. It consisted of: Meat loaf, potatoes, carrots, beans, potato salad (very dainty in appearance), rich cream tomato soup, bread and butter, pie, pudding and coffee.

There is no difficulty about disposing of everything the ladies have to serve. The problem now is to find patriotic housewives who will make regular donations of some article of food, no matter of how small an amount, so Mrs. Boettner can know what she can depend upon. It need not necessarily be cooked, and it need not be of large amount, but any contributor can feel that she is helping the soldiers at the front in assisting this enterprise to earn money for the Red Cross Chapter to which these ladies are so generously giving time and service. Those who were assisting Mrs. Boettner today

sions during which some very fancy dancing was exhibited by pupils of the Keller School, chiefly Marie Hearnshaw, who made a charming picture which was appreciated to the full, and the little Turner children in a very fetching song and dance, and Doris Wolfe in a piquant number.

Many of the matrons who came were content to spend the evening watching the dancers without attempting the one-step, the fox trot or the rest of the modern dances, which differ so greatly from the waltz of their youth. At the same time there were parents and grandparents on the floor who enjoyed themselves and were as much at home there as the High School boys and girls.

Some of the men collected in the card rooms for a social game and the bowling alley was not entirely deserted.

The second orchestra which provided music for the ball room proper was composed of Mrs. Laver (piano), Mr. Butterly (saxophone),
 Mr. McPherson of the Diando Film Company (drums) and it greatly relieved the congestion in the upper room.

It would be quite impossible to give a list of the guests. Nearly all the local members were there and there were representatives from Pasadena and Los Angeles and Miss Francella Billington, the motion picture star, represented Santa Barbara.

Officers of the club were beaming over the success of their first social function which they considered an omen of great prosperity to come and they were predicting an enrollment of one thousand members in the near future.

In this connection it is not out of place to announce that another bunch of new members is to be inducted Monday night, the initiation to be conducted by the Los Angeles Lodge.

A special motion picture film made for the occasion by the Lasky Company, will feature the program which will follow the exercises.

Surrounding the Club House and radiating from it in all directions were automobiles, thick as trees in a forest, and on the sidewalk in front were loitering couples participating by proxy and trying to get glimpses of the gaiety within through the windows.

"Class"

There are a lot of good life insurance companies, and if you hold a contract in any one of them I congratulate you. When, however, you are impelled to increase your protection, or if you already have none to secure some, you should not fail to consider the Provident Life & Trust Co. of Phila., not only because of its low premium rates and low net cost but because of its history in management, integrity, unerring judgment and forms of insurance recommended and written for 53 years. If the past is an earnest of the future "The Provident" will continue to be the ideal company in years to come, as it has been in the past.

ADVENTIST CHURCH

At the Adventist church today the service was given over to the consideration of topics suited to the anniversary of the birth of Washington.
 The pastor's remarks were in part as follows:

"We believe in perpetuating not only the memory of the man, but also the glorious principles of political and religious freedom to which his great mind and heart were dedicated, and which under God have made this nation the brightest spot on this planet.

"We believe in educating our children to honor the immortal principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence and the U. S.
 Constitution. The principles of equal and exact justice to all, and special privileges to none; of government of the people, by the people and for the people; of freedom to worship according to the dictates of conscience; all these are still strongly guaranteed by the fundamental law of the nation, and we are glad to be citizens of a nation founded upon such glorious principles. We are also glad to co-operate with our President and his able assistants in every way possible in the great struggle for the maintenance of these principles against the ravages of autocracy.

"We are glad to co-operate with all other organizations in the complete abolition of the liquor traffic, and the promulgation of such true temperance as will go the farthest in conserving the man power and energy of the nation.

"We are sorry that we are sometimes misunderstood as to our positions on religious legislation. We are opposed to any form of religious legislation because we believe it is forbidden by the U. S. Constitution, which declares that 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.' We do not feel that we could ask Congress to enforce by law the observance of the day we esteem to be holy without violating the U. S. Constitution, and we do not see how others can ask for the enforcement of the day they esteem to be holy without over-riding the prohibitions of the Constitution.

"We believe that God desires only voluntary service in those duties which we owe to Him alone—such as Sabbath observance, prayer, baptism, the Lord's Supper, etc.—and that when we seek for laws to compel compliance with such duties, we virtually seek to deprive God of the only kind of service He can accept from His creatures, as well as to deprive ourselves of that voluntary service which is the spiritual essence of true religion.

"We believe that it is only camouflage to seek Sunday laws for the benefit of the laboring classes. We already have laws protecting all persons in their right to one day's rest in seven without specifying any particular day. These already existing laws answer all our needs, and we do not believe that the state can designate a specific weekly rest day without entering the forbidden realm of religious legislation. Resting on the first day of the week is just as certainly a religious observance as resting on the seventh day of the week is, and we are sure the state could not enforce the observance of the seventh day of the week without violating the U. S. Constitution. We believe with Washington that 'every man who conducts himself as a good citizen is accountable alone to God for his religious belief, and should be protected in worshipping God according to the dictates of his own conscience.'

"The very fact that nearly all proposed Sunday laws of recent years offer exemption to those who observe the seventh day of the week as a day of rest and worship shows conclusively that Sunday laws do deal with matters of a religious character. A law that does not enter the forbidden realm of religious legislation needs no clause exempting any religious body from its penalties.

"We give our Sunday keeping brethren credit for honestly believing that Sunday is the proper day for religious worship; and since they do believe Sunday to be divinely ordained as the Christian Sabbath, they ought to be the strongest opposers of enforcing its observance by human legislation because it is contrary to the fundamental law of our nation."

EXEMPTION BOARD NOTES

An inventory of the men registered by the local Exemption Board shows that there are altogether, 1944 in this district. They have been classified as follows:

- Class 1—497.
- Class 2. (men who are married and skilled workmen in necessary lines)—127.
- Class 3. (men who have dependent parents or children)—68.
- Class 4. (men with dependent families)—714.
- Class 5. (aliens and men in service)—537.

Orders have been received by the Board to forward through special induction, Henry A. Reif of San Fernando, to Camp Fremont for enrollment in the 319th Engineers; and Elmer C. Hoffman of Glendale, to Camp Douglas, Utah, who goes as a metal worker and who will eventually be sent to the 37th Engineers at Fort Myer, Virginia. They will be sent forward about March 1st.

The help you give in time of need is the help that is worth while.

It is the patriotic duty of all users to avoid waste of gasoline.

A saving of one and three-quarter pints each day for each automobile and truck will insure enough for government needs for the coming year.

Let us help you by giving you printed instructions (how to save) which are free for the asking.

INTIMATE WAR EXPERIENCES AND OBSERVATIONS OF LOWELL MELLETT

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
 LONDON, Jan. 5 (By Mail)—A newspaper free lance, an Englishman, came into the office this afternoon with a story to tell. It was an extract from a sermon that, he said is to be delivered tomorrow by the Rev. J.
 Fort Newton.

Dr. Newton, who came to the City Temple recently from an Iowa church it seems is to inveigh powerfully against the drink evil in London.
 According to the extract of the sermon offered by the free lance he charges that American soldiers are disgracing themselves and their uniforms on the streets of this city. Conditions are so bad in this respect, he avers, that it "makes him hate London."

We told him we could not use the story and he asked why. We told him because it isn't true. Regardless of that, urged the free lance, it would be a good story; it certainly would interest all America.

We suggested that the inference created by such a story would not only interest, but would alarm all America—or, in any event, would alarm the several thousands of mothers who happen to have boys in uniform on this side of the Atlantic.
 He intimated that that was scarcely our concern, that the responsibility rested solely on Dr. Newton.

We got mad and told him he would not find that American newspapermen in London looked at things exactly that way. We even hazarded a suggestion that he wouldn't find one in London who would send Dr. Newton's sermon to America, since none of them would consider it presented a true picture of conditions here.
 Most of us are quite familiar with London's streets and with the haunts of the American soldiers who come to the city. It is our business to be.
 We haven't seen the deplorable situation outlined by Dr. Newton, not the soldiers staggering in the streets, nor any of it. We've heard, on the other hand, frequent comments on the exemplary conduct of our soldiers and sailors when in the city.

Dr. Newton's purpose, apparently, was to strengthen his argument against permitting American grain to come to England to be used for the manufacture of liquor at a time when every bushel is needed for food. This argument scarcely needs the support of a misleading statement regarding the conduct of American soldiers.

These and other things we told the surprised news purveyor and he took his story and went away.

Jan. 6. Dr. Newton did deliver the sermon—or, rather, he offered a special prayer in connection with Intercession Day services at the City Temple; and it contained the paragraphs offered us by the free lance.
 It cannot be told whether or not the latter succeeded in selling the story of it to any American newspaperman.

Jan. 7. There was considerable indignation in American circles today regarding Dr. Newton's prayer.
 Among those taking issue with the minister's inferences were Ambassador Page and Admiral Sims, both of whom have reason to know conditions here. The former does a great deal of looking about in a quiet way and the question of temptations placed in the path of American soldiers is one he has given a good deal of

for promotion of institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge, observe good faith and justice towards all nations, cultivate peace and harmony with all, extend our commercial relations so as to have as little political connection as possible.

After reviewing the incidents of his administration he says that having given 45 years of his life, dedicated to the service of his country, he hoped the faults of incompetent abilities might be consigned to oblivion and retired from public life anticipating pleasure in the midst of his fellow citizens, to enjoy the benign influence of good laws, under a free government, with mutual cares, labors, dangers. Surely he was a true patriot.

Pass over one hundred years. Who goes there? An American—man to the core—as men should be. Let him pass through the lines alone.

Type of the sons of Liberty. Here where his father's father dwelt, Honor and faith for Roosevelt.

Born 1868, New York City, his mother was from Georgia, he himself was a cowboy in the West. For the first time in our history a man of letters is at the head of the government. His education is thorough, he represents the college student and the college athlete. He is a patriot. Of such is the safe statesman composed. One characteristic trait in his life is absolute frankness. Sincerity is the keynote of his nature, his motto: "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it. He is a typical American and it is no flattery to say he was learned, cultured, professor, brave, an athlete, a sportsman, ranchman, author, orator, politician, statesman, soldier, patriot.

His policy and administration always took the public into his confidence and always invited the most searching inquiry. This open, honest candor, acquired the confidence of the country and when he was denounced he replied: "I am placed here to enforce the law as I find it. I shall enforce it. If you do not like the law—repeal it."

When he was assistant Secretary of the Navy during President McKinley's administration, he was tireless in his energies to become proficient in this new capacity. He searched into the archives at Washington, reports of British and French officers, logs of British and French ships, and in addressing naval cadets he repeated Washington's warning "to be prepared for war is the most efficient means to promote peace," then added, "all the great masterful races have been fighting races." Cowardice in a race as in an individual is the unpardonable sin.

When our clash of arms with Spain came he said, "The enemies we may have to face, will come from over the sea, they may come from Europe, they may come from Asia. Merely for the protection of our own shores we need a great navy. We need it to protect our interests in the islands from which it is possible to command our shores, and protect our commerce on the high seas."

From step to step he rose until he reluctantly consented to accept the office of Vice-President, and when the fearful tragedy of our country's loss, the most loved of all our presidents—President McKinley—occurred, Colonel Roosevelt suddenly and unexpectedly had thrust upon him the burdens and responsibilities of a nation, the prestige and glory of which both on land and sea he continued to administer with wisdom and courage and determination.

In one of his addresses he says: "We must turn scornfully aside from paths of mere ease and idleness and with unfaltering steps, tread the rough road of endeavor, smiting down the wrong and battling for the right as Greatheart smote and battled in Bunyan's immortal story." From the time of his leaving the White House, until today, he has passed through many varying scenes and at this very time is bravely bearing physical pain, with persistent stoicism.

For another type of our nation's chief executive, let us recall the 1912 campaign, unique in having party control weak and political machinery mechanical and unnatural, the management was in the hands of young men, the press bureau rose into prominence and on August 7, when Governor Wilson was formally notified that he was the choice of the Democratic party for President, he came forth as a man of action to translate his political philosophy, seasoned with mature thoughts, into a new freedom for the American people. People began asking what constructive powers he possessed, what power of resistance. A new untried leader had appeared, a new era was at hand and a remarkable campaign terminated in Woodrow Wilson's election as President, Mar. 4, 1913. In taking the solemn oath, he said:

"This is not a day of triumph, it is a day of dedication. I summon all honest men, all patriotic, all forward looking men to my side. God helping me, I will not fail them, if they but counsel, sustain me."

The European war has changed the course of history. Men stand amazed, shocked, shuddering at the fierceness of this insatiate monster which threatens a breakdown of civilization, a return to the Dark Ages. Great men have risen among us. They are grappling heroically with the problems of the day, just as did the great men in other crises of the world's history. Woodrow Wilson, the president, is guiding this nation across the gulf that separates the past from the future. He has established a marvelous leadership, and has become one of the world's great figures within a brief span of years. He stretched his hand to the Latin American republics, and they grasped it in an hour of peril, and the two continents became friends. He stood by the prostrate form of Mexico, the silent friend, and waited patiently for the re-birth of constitutional government. He keeps "America First" aflame in the hearts of patriots and partisans, and America, "The Melting Pot of Nations," is prepared to meet the crisis of this new era.

President Wilson—were his career ended today his fame is imperishable. He will rank in the hearts of his fellow countrymen with Lincoln and Washington.

There is inflexible logic in the fixing of that price for the Maxwell closed cars. The purpose of the Maxwell builders was to strike the MIDDLE LINE of absolute value.

They have done so with scientific accuracy.

The Maxwell closed cars have grace, beauty, comfort, efficiency, durability, economy and standard equipment.

But, if built to sell for less than $1195 one or the other of these would be lacking.

On the other hand, for a higher price you could get only larger size or fancier furnishings—not any greater VALUE or finer "class."

That is what we mean by "the Middle Line."
